MATERIAL AID GUIDE

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS:

Why send aid to Cuba?

Sending material aid a conscious act of nonviolent civil disobedience challenging the unethical “Trading with the Enemy,” Torricelli, and Helms-Burton Acts. The Caravan is a high-profile act of solidarity with our Cuban brothers and sisters, and is much more than charity. This Blockade has sought to isolate Cuba since 1961, violating international laws by denying Cuba access to medicines and other essential goods.

No matter how much humanitarian aid we collect, it could never remotely assuage the damage that is being done to the Cuban people, especially to Cuban children, by the US blockade. Rather, the act of collecting and sending aid is combined with intentional media and political work that educates the public about the inhumane nature of the blockade and demonstrates to our policymakers and legislators that there is a broad-based international coalition of people of conscience who demand an end to this genocidal policy.

Why don't we get a license?

IFCO/Pastors for Peace does not apply for a license to deliver humanitarian aid Cuba. The US government has used the licensing procedure to serve its own public relations purposes by giving the impression that its helping Cuba while giving minimal aid and NO Trade. Accepting a license would run counter to our moral values and put us in complicity with the US government's presumption of power to use food and medicine as tools in its war against Cuba. We believe the US blockade of Cuba to be contrary to the Biblical principles and moral tenants of all major faiths.

Who receives the aid in Cuba?

An Ecumenical Distribution Committee made up of Cuban religious leaders will receive and distribute the aid to a variety of Cuban organizations and institutions serving the Cuban people on the basis of need. Under the section Third Party Shipments, you can find more information about designating recipients. For additional information about distribution please contact our office.

Is there more than one way to send aid?

There are three ways to send material aid on the Friendshipment caravan:

- ★ Reserve space on an IFCO/Pastors for Peace vehicle bound for Cuba
- ★ Sponsor or purchase a vehicle locally to be donated to Cuba and fill it with aid
- ★ Send a locally-owned vehicle filled with aid that will return after the caravan

For more information about sending vehicles on the Caravan, please consult the Vehicle Guide, available from IFCO/Pastors for Peace and on our website www.pastorsforpeace.org.

Is the delivery guaranteed?

No. Because the caravan is a direct and open challenge to the blockade, there is a possibility that government officials at the border in Texas will seize some of this aid. IFCO/Pastors for Peace cannot be responsible for aid that is confiscated, damaged, destroyed or lost by federal, state or local officials. On the 2005 caravan US customs seized some boxes of computer equipment and denied passage to others. In addition, Mexican customs regulations limit what is allowed to pass through that country. Following these guidelines precisely improves our chances of delivering all the aid.

What items should be sent?

Below is a summary of general aid needs in Cuba. A glossary that gives more detail is available on request from our office or from our website. When sending solidarity aid to Cuba, it is essential that all items collected must be new or in excellent condition, clean and rust-free. Do not donate items that are not in working condition. This is not an opportunity to clean out junk from garages or basements. If it's not good enough for you and your family, don't send it to our Cuban brothers and sisters.

Paying to send the Aid

Why does it cost to send aid to Cuba?

It is expensive & complicated to transport aid to Cuba. Vehicles must be purchased, repaired, maintained, insured & fueled. Space on a cargo ship must be reserved. Distribution must be arranged to high need areas in Cuba. As part of this act of solidarity, we rely upon organizations and individuals to contribute to these costs.

IFCO/Pastors for Peace CARAVAN SHIPPING COSTS

Shipping costs are rated according to “tenths”; a reference to space available in the vehicle.

1/10 = $800 = 100 ft³ or 1,000 pounds (approximately 25 large computer boxes)

- ★ The minimum space reservation is 1/20 = $450
- ★ More details of costs for larger amounts are on Page 7 of this guide
- ★ Please note that there is no charge for sending aid with the caravan in private vehicles or in a vehicle your community has sponsored.

ON MEDICAL SUPPLIES / MEDICATION:

All kinds of medical supplies, medications & medical equipment can be useful, if it is in working order. But there are some special requirements.

- ★ The expiration date on all medication and medical supplies must be no earlier than Feb 1, 2010

Note that some medical supplies don't have expiration dates so they are OK. Sample medications will be accepted only if sorted into different bags or boxes by specific type of medication. Medications or medical supplies that have been opened cannot be accepted

Please follow these guidelines; failure to do so will result in extra work for caravanistas at orientation in sorting through the aid and throwing some out, and may delay our arrival in Cuba.

How can I solicit medical donations?

Find out who has access to the materials and whose stamp of approval you need. Try your doctor; the director or any worker in the biomedical engineering department of your hospital; the director or any worker in the pharmacy of your hospital; the administrator of your local hospital; workers in a private clinic-such as an “Urgent Care” clinic; your nurse; your neighbors; family members; and friends who may work in a hospital. You will probably need to invest a lot of time in making phone calls, taking personal trips to hospitals/offices, and writing letters.

Consider your contact's motivations when shaping the conversation or letter. Doctors and private offices donate because

- ★ they want to help others
- ★ they want to rid their offices of old, unused equipment (even though it is still very useful)
- ★ they want a tax deduction

Hospitals donate because

- ★ they too want to help others
- ★ they want to free up space by discarding unused supplies
- ★ unlike private medical offices, most hospitals pay no taxes and therefore have no need of tax deductions. You might, however, find a private hospital or health center that is taxed.

IFCO/PASTORS FOR PEACE 20th US-CUBA FRIENDSHIPMENT THIRD PARTY SHIPMENT

IFCO/Pastors for Peace organizes material aid shipments as an integral component to its action/education project in the United States, and also to support the Cuban revolutionary system of equal distribution of resources. As elaborated in the Material Aid Q & A, all donations will be received by the Cuban Ecumenical Distribution Committee, who designate the aid throughout the island according to greatest need. However, if you would like to designate your donation to a specific non-governmental organization, you are welcome to submit a Third Party Shipment Request Form to the committee for consideration. Under no circumstances can aid for individuals or unrecognized organizations be sent on the Caravan. Please detach and send the form below to IFCO/Pastors for Peace, who will forward this information to the Ecumenical Distribution Committee for evaluation and approval. Third party shipments are not considered approved until IFCO/Pastors for Peace has received official approval from the coordinator of the Ecumenical Distribution Committee. If your third party shipment is not approved, it will be considered a general donation unless you choose to withdraw it, in which case your deposit will be subject to a 25% (or $50) administrative reduction.

All Third Party Shipment Request Forms must be received by IFCO/ Pastors for Peace by May 17, 2009, or they cannot be considered. Please do not notify organizations in Cuba about any third-party shipments on the Friendshipment until it has been confirmed that your third party shipment has been approved by the Committee. Approved recipients are responsible for picking up the aid in Havana.

PACKING INSTRUCTIONS: Third Party Shipments must be packed separately and labeled with a green label, regardless of the specific category of aid, to ensure release to its intended recipient. The label form in this packet cannot be used for third party shipments. Please request the Third Party Shipment Label from the office in New York once you're notified that your third party shipment has been approved by the Ecumenical Distribution Committee.

TEN STEPS TO SENDING MATERIAL AID

Aid that is inappropriate or improperly packed will not be accepted on the Caravan.

1. Determine how much space your host committee will reserve with the Caravan & establish a plan to fundraise the shipping costs.
2. Reserve the space with IFCO/Pastors for Peace by May 17, 2009. We cannot accept aid without prior arrangement, due to limited space on the caravan vehicles.
3. Set the date of your labeling party. If you plan to send more than a few boxes, labeling is not a task to undertake alone unless you have a lot of free time!
4. Arrange storage space. Will you collect, or should your donors deliver?
5. Solicit donations in your community. Post the cut-off date and date of your labeling party.
6. Third Party Donation requests should be turned in no later than May 17, 2009.
7. Collect all necessary boxes, packing material, scissors & tape. A range of box sizes is helpful for packing. Make copies of the label. (see color coding – item 11)
8. Start to list or Manifest the boxes of aid. If you have access to a computer, make sure you use our Electronic Manifest Template. This will save you and us a lot of time. The template is available in Excel from www.pastorsforpeace.org if we haven't already emailed it to you. A paper manifest form is available from our office if you can't use the computer version.
9. SCREENING: Separate any items that are not in quality condition or that are prohibited by Mexican customs regulations. This screening is essential, as certain items cannot be sent with the Caravan, and it will waste valuable time at orientation if it is not completed. We don't want:

★ Any medicine, or medical supplies that are not in factory-sealed packages or that have an expiration date earlier than February 1, 2010

- Computers with models earlier than Pentium III, or that are not IBM compatible
- Food
- Any clothing, sheets, towels, etc. that are not enclosed in their original packaging.
- Books that are not Science or Medical textbooks

- 10. SORTING: Sort the donations according to categories (see box below under point 11), and then divide into boxes or other appropriate packaging. Each box should contain items from only one category. Loose items will not be accepted. Computer components should be packaged together in sets: CPU, cables, keyboard, monitor, etc. If you use more than one box, please label them as a set (e.g. 7A, 7B) to ensure that they get reunited in Cuba.
- 11. LABELING: Make two color-coded Shipment labels for each box (see table below), listing the category and top three contents. The list of contents must be specific; general terms like “medical/educational supplies, misc., etc.” are not adequate. Labels should be easily distinguishable by color. It is best to fill out the information about the sending organization on the enclosed label form before reproducing the form on the appropriate color(s). Third Party Shipment Labels are different and must be requested from the office. All labels should be in English & Spanish. Consult with the Material Aid Glossary for translation.

- Purple - Alternative energy supplies and bicycles
- Yellow - Sports/arts/cultural equipment
- Blue - Educational supplies
- Red - Construction supplies/tools
- Pink - Home supplies
- White - Medical supplies/medicines
- Orange – Powdered milk/dietary supplements
- Green - All third party shipments (any category) - see above

- 12. SEALING: After sealing the box, attach two labels, on opposite sides, being careful to place them so that opening the box will not damage the label. Cover the label completely with clear tape. Boxes are often opened by Mexican customs officials, and if the label is damaged, it becomes more difficult for our partners in Cuba to distribute the aid.
- 13. LARGE ITEMS: such as wheelchairs or large pieces of medical equipment don't need boxing but should have labels attached and should be manifested. Bicycles should preferably be put in special bicycle boxes.
- 14. MANIFESTING: By July 1, 2009, your Final Electronic Manifest is due to the NY office. If you do not use a computer, please designate this task to someone who does. The Manifest should have the box number: category: top three items. Please refer to the Glossary for guidance.
